

Australian and New Zealand Journal of Statistics Non-Editorial Report to the 2023 AGM

NZSA representative

1. Move to online printing

As part of the publishing contract renewal, Wiley proposed that the ANZJS be moved to online only and that we adopt their peer review management system. This would bring modest savings to Journal.

The recommendation of the management committee to the NZSA and SSA Executives was that the Journal be moved online with the right to archive copies in electronic and print form but that the existing peer review management system be retained.
